TWO ARRESTED FOR BLACKMAIL

William Blakemon and John Ferguson, Both Colored, Held on Grand Jury Indictments.

FERGUSON GIVES $500 BOND

Blakemon Prefers to Remain in Jail—
Outgrowth of $5,000 Alienation Suit.

William Blackmon and John Ferguson, colored, have been arrested on a grand jury indictment, returned Saturday, charging blackmail. Ferguson gave bond this morning for appearance in court. His bond was fixed at five hundred dollars. Blackmon, it is said, prefers to remain in jail for reasons all his own.

Blackmon, it will be remembered, formerly lived in this city. He was arrested in Indianapolis some time yesterday afternoon and brought here and lodged in jail last night. Ferguson was arrested this morning and promptly made arrangements for bond.

There were rumors during the sessions of the grand jury last week that an attempt was being made to bring an indictment against the Indianapolis colored man for blackmail. It was never recited that John Ferguson would be implicated in the case.

It may be the first legal proceedings ever started in the rather unusual case came last year. On May 23, 1911, William Blackmon filed suit in the circuit court against Marion McCann in which he charged alienation of his wife's affections and demanded five thousand dollars damages. The case has been set for trial but it has never been heard yet. It was set down on the court calendar for this term of court and a day was selected for the hearing. When the time for trial came it was given out that the case has been postponed due to the illness of Marion McCann's attorney, J. Q. Thomas.

It is understood that John C. Cheney of Shelbyville, deputy prosecutor for Shelby county, who was appointed by Dennis O'Neil, had charge of the deliberations of the grand jury when evidence was heard which resulted in the indictments being returned against the two colored men.

One other bench warrant on one of the grand jury indictments returned Saturday has been issued by Judge Blair, but late this afternoon no further arrests had been made.

CANDIDATE SPENDS $47.40.

George W. Williams of Knightstown, who has served Henry county in the legislature several terms, and was elected at the recent primary of the Republicans, spent only $47.40 to obtain the nomination. Of this amount he gave $24 to the county central committee to help pay the cost of the election and the rest for newspaper advertising, car fare and livery hire. No candidate who has yet reported spent more than $150.

George W. Looney, sold an oak tree to Reynolds & Clifford last week that measured almost five feet in diameter and made five twelve foot logs, being one of the largest and finest trees ever handled by this firm. The purchase price was $75 as it stood. Such giant specimens of the forest are becoming very rare. Mr. Reynolds says they do not average more than one of this kind in a whole year.

RAYMOND BEVER EXPIRES

Former Glenwood Man is Buried Near Connersville.

The body of Raymond Bever, formerly of near Glenwood, who died in Marion Saturday, arrived in Connersville yesterday and was taken to Lick Creek cemetery, where burial took place. The deceased was 22 years of age and was a son of Theodore Bever. He formerly lived near Glenwood and was known to many friends both there and in this city. He was unmarried. Since the middle of last month he had been seriously ill and his death was no great surprise to the relatives.

LOCAL PEOPLE HAVE DELIGHTFUL TIME

Festivities Every Day on "Cleveland" on Which Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cambern Sailed.

ARE CRUISING AROUND WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cambern of this city, who are enjoying a cruise around the world on the Hamburg-American line steamer, "Cleveland" landed in Kobe, Japan, yesterday morning. They will sail from that port Thursday for Nagasaki, Japan, where they will arrive Saturday and remain until Monday.

The days on land are spent in sight seeing. During the time on ship the passengers are entertained with a program which is prepared for every day that the steamer is on the water. For instance Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the passengers are viewing the sights of Kobe. Friday at 8:45 p. m. a paper on "Hygiene in the Tropics" will be read. One week ago yesterday the passengers landed in Yokohama, Japan and spent the week there. A dance is always given on promenade deck every Saturday night at nine o'clock. Two religious services are held on board the steamer every Sunday.

The cruise will end at Southampton, Thursday, May 16. Another cruise has been arranged for the near future, the steamer to start from New York. The "Cleveland" left San Francisco Tuesday, February 6.

MRS. RACHEL MAUZY DIES

Well Known Woman Succumbs in San Francisco, Cal.

Mrs. Rachel Mauzy, formerly of this city, died at her home in San Francisco, Sunday, according to word received here. The funeral services will be held at Oakland, Cal., tomorrow. Mrs. Mauzy was the mother of Capt. J. H. Mauzy, now of Texas, and Z. E. Mauzy, now of San Francisco. They both formerly lived here. Mrs. Mauzy was a sister of Mrs. Rebecca Bodine of this city. Her husband, Dr. R. D. Mauzy, died several years ago.

SEASONS FOR OPERATIONS.

According to press dispatches, it has become a fad in the larger Eastern cities for members of the social set to have their appendices removed and to have other operations, considered fashionable and necessary, performed during the days of Lent, when social duties are extremely "light."

Nearly eleven thousand Indians were located in reservations by the Chilean government last year.

DO NOT AGREE WITH REPORT

Court House Not as Dilapidated as Grand Jury Says, According to Officials

CUSTODIAN WORK IS GOOD

Investigation Fails to Find Any Keys in Use by Outsiders—Information is Unknown.

The various county officials take exceptions to the report of the grand jury on conditions at the court house. That part of the report stating that keys were in possession of persons not lawfully entitled to them caused the greatest comment.

Jabez Smith, custodian of the building said this morning: "They say there are a lot of keys out. If they know where they are and will please report to me or Sheriff Bebout we will gladly get all of them. The grand jury also finds the walls black. That black comes from the power house and from radiators and can not be helped. My offices are open for inspection every day in the week. I try to keep the toilet room in a sanitary condition but sometimes the lack of water will not permit. Part of the time we have no water. As far as I know or the sheriff knows there is no one coming here after office hours that is not entitled to."

Sheriff Bebout was of the same opinion as Mr. Smith. "The report refers to offices in the court house that are not entitled to be there," said Mr. Bebout. "I for one, do not know to whom they refer."

Verne W. Norris, clerk of the circuit court, stated that he knew of no pass keys not in lawful hands. "It is true the walls are in bad shape, but it is to be expected after fourteen years' usage," said Mr. Norris. "As to the keys I know of none. The janitor work is good and all that is required."

"The only keys I know of," said County Recorder Charles Brooks, are the ones to my office. "I have three keys, one in the safe, Miss Sleeth has one, and I have the other. I know nothing of keys to the entrance as I always lock my office and pay no attention to the main door."

Orval Sampson, deputy treasurer, said, "I know nothing of any keys except the one I carry. The grand jury seemed to think there were some keys but I do not know of them."

"We have no extra keys," said Mrs. Fanny Study, deputy auditor. The grand jury never got the information from this office and I do not know just where it came from."

The grand jury report caused little comment outside of the report on the court house. Almost everyone agreed that the building at the county asylum was in need of repairs.

ADDITION TO CHURCH.

The Methodist congregation at Knightstown will build an addition to their church that will cost $3,000. The addition will include a gymnasium, kitchen, dining room and Bible class room. The Presbyterian congregation is canvassing the town for funds with which to build a new $25,000 church.

DIES IN GREENSBURG.

Joseph A. Cartmel, age sixty-eight years, died at his home in Greensburg yesterday of pneumonia after an illness of ten days. He moved to that city from Clarksburg last fall. He was well known in the southern part of the county. A widow and one daughter, Mrs. Earl Hite, survive him.

WEATHER.

BROOKVILLE IS STILL ON THE JOB

Retail Merchants Association Officers Tell of Enthusiasm at I. & C. Meeting There.

400 ATTENDED LAST NIGHT

Representatives of Traction Company and Brookville Business Men Make Speeches.

Anthony Schrichte and Will O. Feudner, officers of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association, arrived here at noon today from Brookville, where they attended last night a meeting of citizens of that city, held to advance the interests of the I. & C. traction extension to Cincinnati by the Rushville route.

The enthusiasm was high, and if the crowd is to be taken as any criterion as to the amount of interest that is being evinced in relation to the I. & C. extension, there is no reason to believe why the I. & C. extension can not be brought to this city. At least four hundred Brookville men attended, according to the local men who attended. Their enthusiasm last night was even higher than that exhibited at the meeting held here.

Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C. spoke briefly of the plans of the I. & C. and made about the same statements as he did at the public gathering here. Anthony Schrichte dwelt on Rushville's part of the work and pointed out what the city had already done in locating the power house and car barns here. Will O. Feudner urged the young business men of Brookville to get into the game, and pointed out that their co-operation with the older men would bring the best results.

M. P. Hubbard of Brookville presided and called on C. L. Henry first. Mr. Henry reiterated his statements here in regard to the extension. He said the company was not prepared to make any definite promises at this time. He declared again that the company expected free right-of-way and that he could not tell what more the company might ask in certain localities.

In answer to a question Mr. Henry said the I. & C. already had figures on the route from Harrison into Cincinnati. This route was surveyed once before he said, by the Cincinnati Harrison & Cincinnati Company. He pointed out that Cincinnati is beginning to realize the rapid growth Indianapolis has made as an interurban center and in order to compete with the Hoosier metropolis, the city may decide to abandon the old canal which runs down into the city and use it for an interurban entrance.

Anthony Schrichte praised the farms that are to be found in Franklin county and alluded to the increase in value which would be noticeable as soon as the interurban line was assured. He talked of the value of the line to Rushville and of the advantages it had offered to the city's business interests and the county's farming interests.

C. L. Henry interrupted the meeting at this juncture to refute the rumor that had been started in Brookville to the effect that the directors of the I. & C. could be bought off for $10,000. He stated that the story was a base falsehood and that the company would not deal through any agents, but with the people direct.

Judge Alexander of Brookville praised the "Bulltown" route and E. A. Shultze of Laurel, who spoke here, spoke at length of business advantages of the interurban line in the Whitewater valley. Mr. Kidney of Brookville spoke briefly and J. J. Appel, director of the I. & C. made a short talk in which he alluded to the enthusiasm which was apparent. He said that would work wonders. He said a mistake was made in inviting him down there because it looked so good he would spend his time down there fishing after the line was extended. Judge Hedge and J. C. Shirk of Brookville spoke.

Besides Mr. Henry J. F. Wild and J. J. Appel, directors of the I. & C., attended. B. J. Jeup, chief engineer, and A. H. Moore, an engineer of the I. & C., both of Indianapolis, and E. A. Shultze of Laurel, were at the meeting.

ASK DAMAGES FOR LOSS IN SHIPMENT

Milroy Stock Company Files Suit Today Against Big Four Railroad For $340.

HOGS KILLED ON JOURNEY

The Milroy Stock Company brought suit in the Rush circuit court today against the Big Four railroad for $340 damages and all other proper relief on account of losses to two shipments of hogs sent from Milroy over that road to Buffalo, N. Y. The members of the company, according to the complaint are Samuel W. Matthews, John E. Booth and John G. Hammond.

In the first paragraph it is recited that eighty-nine hogs were shipped from Milroy over the Big Four February 7. It is alleged that when the hogs arrived in Buffalo ten were dead, three were crippled and three were almost dead. Besides, it is complained, the shipment was on the road five days and $60 was lost in shrinkage, due to the fact that the porkers had no water or feed.

In the third paragraph it is averred a shipment of eighty-eight hogs was sent to Buffalo from Milroy January 6, and that $60 was lost in shrinkage because the hogs were on the road six days. The plaintiffs say three hogs were dead and seven were crippled and worthless when they arrived at Buffalo.

MARTIN CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

Father of Escaped Bank Robber Indicted by Hancock Grand Jury For Aiding Son.

RELEASED UNDER $800 BOND

The grand jury returned an indictment Saturday against Henry Martin, charging him with conspiracy to commit felony, says the Greenfield Reporter. The grand jury was called into session Friday morning to investigate the manner in which Cordia Martin made his escape from jail on Sunday morning, February 25.

There were a number of rumors and stories afloat all week regarding the affair, and Mayor Ora Myers held a three days court of inquiry at the close of which he ordered the arrest of Henry Martin on two charges, conspiracy and aiding a prisoner to escape. Mr. Martin gave bond in the sum of $800 and the grand jury was called into session to make further investigation. The result of their inquiry was the one charge against Mr. Martin. He was placed under arrest and gave bond in the sum of $800, with D. C. Gimason and John S. Orr as surety.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued this morning to Otto Bitner and Hazel Jackson.

BOARD TO MEET AGAIN MONDAY

At That Time Commissioners Will Have 4 Liquor License Renewal Petitions to Consider.

VIEWERS APPOINTED TODAY

Board Has Long List of Questions, Sent Out by Accounting Board, to Answer.

The county commissioners adjourned this afternoon to meet again next Monday. At that time four liquor license renewals will be before the board for its action. The licenses will expire one week from tomorrow. It was expected the Kessler drain would be acted upon by the board today, but the members were so engrossed with some routine business that they had no time for that. The Orange township road petition was postponed, too.

The commissioners this morning appointed William VanSycle and Allen Jackman viewers for the Theodore Humphrey road, in Richland township.

The State board of accounts has sent a long list of questions to the commissioners to answer concerning statistics of the county. The State board is attempting to prepare facts concerning the duties of the county judicial officers all over the State in order to prepare a bill for the legislature to arrange salaries of such officials according to the duties performed.

One of the numerous questions of the board is to determine the number of bridges in the county. This morning the commissioners found that there are a hundred and seventy-nine in the county which have been built by the commissioners.

One of the most perplexing questions which is asked of the commissioners is the number of days they have spent as free trunk pike directors and in traveling over the county inspecting roads and bridges. They are at a loss to know how to answer that question. There is no record of the days which the commissioners have spent at such work and they have no means of learning the number as they could not depend on their memory with any degree of exactness.

EVIDENCE IS CONCLUDED

Argument in Walker Bros. Case to be Heard Tomorrow.

The evidence in the suit of Orrin E. Walker against his brother, Berne M. Walker for an accounting and the appointment of a receiver, was concluded in the circuit court this afternoon and Judge Blair left at once for his home in Shelbyville to spend the night. The argument in the case will be heard in the morning. The plaintiff in the suit is principal of the Glenwood schools. The two brothers found it impossible to operate a partnership business agreeably and the suit being tried is only one of the legal proceedings resorted to in the last few months.

H. H. Reed, general agent for the Columbus Securities Company of Philadelphia, is here as the guest of A. W. Posey, local representative of the company, and is making acquaintances with Rushville business men.

Shetland ponies are brought almost daily from the Shetland islands to Aberdeen, where they are rested for a few days before being transported to Glasgow or elsewhere by rail in trucks.

GOVERNOR WILL SOUND KEYNOTE

Program Arranged By Democratic State Committee.

PLANS COMING CONVENTION

Meeting of the State Committee This Afternoon, It is Announced, Will Be Followed by Announcement of the Program For State Convention March 21, Governor Marshall to Be Named as the Temporary Chairman.

Indianapolis, March 5.—It is expected that before the Democratic state committee adjourns this afternoon it will announce the selection of Governor Marshall for the position of temporary chairman of the state convention, which will be held at Tomlinson hall on March 21. Just what other business will come before the committee is not known, but it is understood that the full details of the temporary organization of the state convention will be determined at this meeting.

Leading Democrats say that Governor Marshall is the logical man for the temporary chairmanship. Not only is he the governor of the state, but he is the candidate of the Indiana Democrats for the nomination for president, they say, and this entitles him to the honor.

The temporary chairman is the man that delivers the keynote speech for the campaign. If Governor Marshall is selected for temporary chairman, as it is practically certain that he will be, it will be up to him to make the speech defining the position of the Indiana Democracy on the political issues of the campaign. And since he is a candidate for the presidency, those who discuss the matter say that the speech probably will be made a national campaign document and distributed all over the country.

DO NOT CONFLICT

Court Holds Nicholson and Proctor Laws Stand Together.

Indianapolis, March 5.—An unsuccessful attack on the Nicholson law was made in the criminal court by William N. Harding, attorney for James Scanlon, roadhouse keeper, who filed a motion to quash that part of the indictment against him which sets out his former convictions and attributes to the court jurisdiction to revoke the license. Mr. Harding argued that the Proctor liquor regulation law repealed the clause in the Nicholson law which gives the judge of the police or criminal court the power to revoke a license when the holder has been twice before convicted of violating that law.

Judge Markey overruled the motion and said that both laws might well stand together and did not conflict. Mr. Harding argued that the Proctor law placed the power of revoking a license in the board of county commissioners and that a method of procedure by which the commissioners could revoke a license was clearly set out in that law.

Scanlon's attorney said no fight would be made on the charge that Scanlon's place was open last Labor day, the offense for which he is being tried. As Scanlon does not deny that charge, all the state has to do is to prove by the records his former convictions under the Nicholson law.

Miners' Election Returns. Brazil, Ind., March 5.—Lawrence Garrigus of Perth, according to unofficial returns, has defeated James D. Holden, present incumbent, for president of District 8 of the United Mine Workers of America. Charles Griffin, a colored man, carried two of the three local in Brazil.

Recovery Is Predicted. Muncie, Ind., March 5.—Hospital physicians predict the recovery of Warren Stroup, the young married man who shot Mrs. Margaret Cooper last Thursday night, and turned the weapon on himself. Mrs. Cooper has been removed to the home of a relative.

A Gun in Careless Hands. Bedford, Ind., March 5.—While a bunch of boys was playing in the woods, Willie Ping, twenty-one years old, was accidentally shot in the forehead with an air rifle in the hands of Claude Faubion, the ball penetrating the skull. The lad is unconscious.

"OH THIS AWFUL ITCHING"

What Eczema Sufferers Say—They Can Now Get Relief.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

It is bad enough to have the disfiguring eruption of eczema and similar skin troubles, but the terrible itching and burning make it ten times worse.

At last we have a remedy for skin diseases that we can recommend. We even give back your money if this new remedy of ours, Saxon Salve, does not satisfy you perfectly.

Saxon Salve is doubly valuable to all who have eczema or any skin disease because it both allays the itching and burning in a few moments, and exerts a powerful curative effect at the same time.

It combines soothing and healing properties in a form that is absorbed by the skin, making its curative effect thorough and not merely on the surface. If you have any skin trouble you should use Saxon Salve. It is equally good for children and adults. F. B. Johnson & Co. Drug-gists, Rushville, Ind.

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery. Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

Rushville Women Have Sworn Allegiance To Tailored Suits

Rushville women have given their allegiance to the tailor made suit. It is the predominating style of dress on the street, at all the public and semi-public affairs of the day and evening at which women appear, and is considered entirely correct for all the afternoon social functions. It is sensible and practical, they say, and in harmony with their ideal of a smart, well-groomed appearance. Shopkeepers who deal in women's costumes say that tailored suits make up the bulk of their merchandise; and two-thirds of all the gowns they sell are tailored made costumes.

The average woman makes the tailored suit the backbone of her wardrobe. Before she settles on the details of her outfit for a season she must decide what color and model her suit will be. All the remainder of her plans are made in relation to it.

The merchants must adapt their wares to milady's tastes and take especial pains to discover what will meet her approval before he purchases his complete stock. Before one season is little more than half over they aim to have advance showings that will illustrate the colors and modes of the next.

These showings are eagerly anticipated by Rushville femininity and as soon as they appear little knots of women gather before the windows to inspect the new models. They discuss the predominating colors, the length of the coat, whether coats are to be severely plain or a bit decorated, and whether or not the skirt is to be longer or shorter, wider or narrower than the present mode. While the snows are thick on the ground they have begun to plan their spring wardrobe and their first question is, what will my suit be?

Milliners in the city assert that the dress hat modeled on picturesque lines enjoys only a limited favor. Many women omit it from their outfit entirely. In fact its stead they select the trim chic model designed for wear with tailored garments. The tailored waist is the result of the tailored suit and merchants pay special attention to securing well cut models. With her severe suit and waist and the trim hat that goes with it the woman finds a place for the bit of feminine fluffiness she still loves, in the lace abot that she wears at her throat.

Here again trade follows her dictates and it is not unusual to see an entire window display over to these pretty conceptions in varying degrees of elaborateness and costliness.

An occasional display will show a few suit models, some tailored waists, and new mannish skirt that is so popular with young women, a few dressy waists perhaps, linen collars, jabots, neck bows and the masculine four-in-hand tie, epitomizing in brief the Rushville woman's taste in dress.

The Rushville woman is a woman of many activities and the tailored costume is best suited to her energetic and efficient life. It relieves her from the care of useless frills and furbelows, permits her ease and freedom of motion and makes her feel at home and inconspicuously well dressed wherever she may find herself. And so she wears tailored costumes everywhere, to church or shopping in the morning, and to the club or the matinee in the afternoon.

C. A. Glossner, 24 Ontario St., Rochester, N. Y., has recovered from a long and severe attack of kidney trouble, his cure being due to Foley Kidney Pills. After detailing his case, he says: "I am only sorry I did not learn sooner of Foley Kidney Pills. In a few day's time my backache completely left me and I felt greatly improved. My kidneys became stronger, dizzy spells left me and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent. better since using Foley Kidney Pills." F. B. Johnson & Co.

It is recognized as the most appropriate garment for afternoon social functions and at least two-thirds of the women wear tailored costumes with pretty dressy waists of lace or chiffon to all the luncheons, teas and afternoon receptions. The tailored suit and chiffon waist appears again in the evening at the theater. Rushville women like to be inconspicuous there and shun the boxes and full evening dress for the orchestra chairs and day costume. Fluffy gowns are relegated to formal and semi-formal evening affairs.

Many women in the city will have a half dozen suits made at one time to provide a supply of the practical garments suitable for every occasion. The suit makers are kept busy constantly and a reputation for excellence opens up to them a lucrative business. In the gossip about dress that has its full share in feminine small talk, the success of somebody's latest new suit is always up for discussion.

Comment upon the good dressing of the young women who work and the professional women of the city, is frequently and generally deserved. Their sensible taste for tailor made clothes is responsible for their well-groomed appearance. One suit, or if their salary permits, two suits a year, with tailored waists and a few pretty blouses make up an economical and effective wardrobe. Feminine fluffiness has been reduced to the minimum in their active and in its place they have adopted a new standard of freshness, neatness and trim elegance.

"Why do I like the tailored costumes?" said one woman who has a reputation for distinguished looking suits, "because it is the finest conception of street costume yet achieved by women. It is practically, dignified and sensible and not incompatible with daintiness and grace.

"The tailored suit has won its way by its practicability and because it appeals to the intelligent woman's sense of fitness and good taste," is the opinion of another woman.

By its silent example it has made

Who Enjoy the Choicest Products of the World's Commerce.

Knowledge of What is Best More Important Than Wealth Without It.

It must be apparent to every one that qualities of the highest order are necessary to enable the best of the products of modern commerce to attain to universal acceptance. However loudly heralded, they may not hope for world-wide preeminence unless they meet with the general approval, not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and enjoying the choicest products. Their commendation, consequently, becomes important to others, since to meet the requirements of the well informed of all countries the methods of manufacture must be of the most perfect order and the combination the most excellent of its kind. After thirty years of general usage, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is everywhere accepted as the best of family laxatives. Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the laxative and carminative principles of plants known to act most beneficially on the system, but also to the method of manufacture of the California Fig Syrup Co., which ensures that uniformity and purity essential in a remedy intended for family use. It cleanses and sweetens the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects. To get the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, buy of your druggist the genuine only, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package; one size only, price, 50 cents per bottle.

sentimentality, coquettishness and picturesqueness in street dress, in questionable form and very bad taste. It has revealed these qualities to indoor, party and country wear. It has modified fashions even in these garments and made for simplicity in every phase of woman's dress. All these things, and more, are claimed for the tailored suit by its devotees in Rushville. It is a democratic institution, they say, and perhaps its greatest achievement is the equalization of appearance which it has brought about on the street, in the churches, the shops, the theaters and wherever the women of wealth and the women of slender means mingle together.

The "Child's Welfare" movement has challenged the attention of thoughtful people everywhere. Mothers are natural supporters, and will find in Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most valuable aid. TELEPHONE NUMBER, 1111.

Tuesday, March 5, 1912.

The so-called Roosevelt national committee, composed of a herd of malcontents and soreheads, continues to flood the newspapers of the country with dispatches from Washington each day in which it is pretended to give the political conditions as they appear in Washington. That appears to be merely an excuse. The committee is taking this method to make a vigorous attack on President Taft and his administration. It is seeking to show that the president is using "road-roller" methods to procure delegates to the national convention to insure his nomination. Unhappy day! Imagine that Roosevelt, the premier "road-roller," who always resorted to force in preference to argument, should complain of such an imaginary thing, which he, in reality, used more successfully than any other man who has ever been in politics. At least, it may be said of President Taft that he has not resorted to such tactics.

We can not recall that Col. Roosevelt ever advocated the initiative, recall and referendum at any other time in his life. He once had an opportunity to recommend that government—as he now styles it—by the people and for the people be instituted, but it did not require that to be popular then. His big stick and his Ananias club, in which he willfully placed who ever disputed his word, overshadowed all other things. When he found a man who did not agree with him he promptly called him a liar. The public applauded and never thought that Roosevelt could be wrong. It appears that it is high time they investigated once in a while.

It sounds like the editor of the Richmond Item, following the example of his chief, is hedging, for he observes: "If the Wayne county delegates to the Connersville convention do not stand firmly for Roosevelt delegates to the Chicago convention in June, it will be because of a diminution of the present interest on the part of the Republican voters hereabouts." Such Republican voters are the kind who do just such things as are suggested by the Item.

Our Mr. Roosevelt today draws a distinction between becoming a candidate and accepting the nomination if it is tendered to him. It is to be inferred from his statements that in his own mind he is not an active candidate for the nomination. Of course, he could not be, else he would repudiate his numerous former statements. But if he is not a candidate, who ever was?

It is perfectly fitting and proper, and in keeping with the general order of things that the Richmond Palladium should run a laxative ad in its editorial column since insurgency tends to have the same effect.

Now they are proposing to tax people having incomes of $5,000 or more, though in view of the sufferings of this down trodden class it might seem more appropriate to take up a collection in their behalf.

It now appears that Roosevelt volunteered to lead a regiment to invade Mexico. It would seem as if his job as fighting editor of the Outlook should have satisfied his combative disposition.

It is reported that collectors of antiques are quite anxious to secure copies of the United States constitution, as it is a long time since any one has been seen with a copy of that venerable document.

The good old days have passed when you could leave a good "issue" lying around loose. Better lock it up, or some of these Indian politicians will run off with it.

From the number of rocks in the possession of Theodore and Will, there is an impression that innocent bystanders should take refuge behind the barn.

All the congressmen favor reducing the number of navy yards and army posts, but as any one of them is in some one's State, none of them can be eliminated.

The Pope bars hobble skirts and we believe he also abridges the privileges of the sex by requiring women to appear fully dressed.

There are said to be 650 Chinese, young men and women, studying in advanced educational institutions in this country.

Our chief regret will be, with the passing of the snow, that we will no longer have the pleasure of enjoying the diversion of watching a little woman trying to walk in the tracks of a big man.

Due to a very noticeable lack of material in our exchanges we had to dope out more of this stuff today than usual. No doubt you have already observed that. We were not able to snag many happy ideas from our friends and this Colyum is largely homespun. We hope this condition will not exist again soon, for your sake at least.

Newcastle Courier rises to remark the man who sweeps the snow off his own sidewalk is a good citizen, and that the man who goes farther and sweeps that of his neighbor is a philanthropist.

But how many of us live by philanthropists?

Just Plain Dennis.

Could it be possible that it was foreordained that his folks should name him Dennis. Some quaint philosophers have said that there's nothing in a name—at least there is in this one case which has come to our notice. It is as sure as fate that the old saying "his name is Dennis" will work out. His interviews are gems of prose with which the most wonderful imaginative genius could not vie.

Palace Theatre Maintains No Varying Scale of Prices

In the course of a few days the Palace theater will be at home in its new location, the Havens building in West Second street. We hope to be moved and ready for business not later than by the ninth of March.

The policy of the theater will remain the same—namely that of giving the public the best there is in moving pictures. As heretofore, we will show Independent pictures. The various makes of Independent films shown at this theater have proved popular and from public sentiment and approval we believe these pictures fill a needed want.

The New Palace theater will be a modern and up-to-date photoplay house, arranged with a view of giving its patrons comfort and "the at-home feeling." It would not be logical for us to brag and lead you to expect great things and then disappoint you, so we will not be egotistical. Seeing is believing. Nothing will be cheap, but the price of admission, which, as in the past, will be but five cents. A true five cent theater has no varying scale of prices. We have already held that five cents was the popular price and our past patronage has proved this true. At all times no matter what the night or the occasion you will find one theater in Rushville, where the price of admission is only five cents. That theater is the Palace.

We are publishing this week a magazine, our first effort, in which you will find several things of interest concerning motion pictures. A brief review of several attractions booked for an early appearance at the Palace is given. Read them over and then watch the local papers for the dates. Owing to the lack of space many of the best pictures are not given, but this is no reason why they will not be shown. Send your name and address to Louis H. Thatcher and be on our mailing list. AMUSEMENTS

The Princess offers as the first picture tonight a spectacular Vitagraph war drama entitled, "The Younger Brother." This picture is said to be a thrilling drama. The other picture is a Biograph comedy, "Caught With the Goods." Tomorrow night a feature, "A Thief in the Night" will be shown.

The Portola will show a dramatic and a comic film tonight. "The Ventriquist's Trunk" is a Vitagraph comedy that is described as "some" comedy. "The Revenue and the Girl" is a Kalem drama. It is said to be an exceptionally good film. Thursday evening a feature film, "Nora From Norway" will be shown.

Charles Frohman will present Miss Billie Burke in "The Runaway" at English's opera house on Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, with a Saturday matinee. Miss Burke is already a favorite here, as she is in every city in the United States, and the announcement of her annual engagement is always looked forward to with eager anticipation by theatergoers of all ages, of both sexes and of every walk in life. In "The Runaway," her newest success, the critics in the East say Miss Burke appears at her very best. As Colette Irondele the heroine of this play, she represents an ingenious little Breton girl, the very personification of gay girlhood inspired by the newly awakened spirits of romance and ambition. Brought up by two narrow-minded spinster aunts in a provincial village, she bursts the bonds of tradition when they attempt to marry her to a sanctimonious country lout and finds a wider, freer life in Bohemian Paris and a husband worthy of her in a noted artist old enough in years to be her father, but young enough with the perennial youth of genius to be her lover. It is a beautiful story, simply told and splendidly acted. C. Aubrey Smith, the most polished actor England has sent to America, plays the artist, and others in the cast are George Howell, Morton Selten, Edwin Nicander, Jane Evans, Josephine Morse and Alice Gale.

Records show that monkeys were kept as pets as early as the year 1230 B. C.

CHAPTER III.

The Story and the Letters.

Imagine, if you please, the forest primeval; yes, the murmuring pines and the hemlocks of the poem as well, by the side of a rapidly rushing mountain torrent fed by the eternal snows of the lofty peaks of the great range. A level stretch of grassy land where a mountain brook joined the creek was dotted with clumps of pines and great boulders rolled down from the everlasting hills—half an acre of open clearing. On the opposite side of the brook the canon wall rose almost sheer for perhaps five hundred feet, ending in jagged, needle-edged pinacles of rock, sharp, picturesque and beautiful. A thousand feet above ran the timber line, and four thousand feet above that the crest of the greatest peak in the main range.

The white tents of the little encampment which had gleamed so brightly in the clear air and radiant sunshine of Colorado, now stood dim and ghost-like in the red reflection of a huge campfire. It was the evening of the first day in the wilderness.

For two days since leaving the wagon, the Maitland party with its long train of burros heavily packed, its horsemen and the steady plodders on foot, had advanced into unexplored and almost inaccessible retreats of the mountains—into the primitive indeed! In this delightful spot they had pitched their tents and the permanent camp had been made. Wood was abundant, the water at hand was as cold as ice, as clear as crystal and as soft as milk. There was pasture for the horses and burros on the other side of the mountain brook. The whole place was a little amphitheater which humanity occupied perhaps the first time since creation.

Unpacking the burros, setting up the tents, making the camp, building the fire, had used up the late remainder of the day which was theirs when they had arrived. Opportunity would come tomorrow to explore the country, to climb the range, to try the stream that tumbled down a succession of waterfalls to the right of the camp and roared and rushed merrily around its feet until, swelled by the volume of the brook, it lost itself in tree-clad depths far beneath. Tonight rest after labor, tomorrow play after rest.

The evening meal was over. Enid could not help think with what scorn and contempt her father would have regarded the menu, how his gorge would have risen—hers, too, for that matter!—had it been placed before him on the old colonial mahogany of the dining-room in Philadelphia. But up there in the wilds she had eaten the coarse homely fare with the zest and relish of the most seasoned ranger of the hills. Anxious to be of service, she had burned her hands and smoked her hair and scorched her face by usurping the functions of the young ranchman who had been brought along as cook, and had actually fried the bacon herself! Imagine a goddess with a frying pan! The black thick coffee and the condensed milk, drunk from the granite ware cup, had a more delicious aroma and a more delightful taste than the finest Mocha and Java in the daintiest porcelain of France. Optimum condimentum. The girl was frankly ravenously hungry, the air, the altitude, the exertion, the excitement made her able to eat anything and enjoy it.

She was gloriously beautiful, too; even her brief experience in the west had brought back the missing roses to her cheek, and had banished the mistle circles from beneath her eyes. Robert Maitland, lazily reclining propped up against a boulder, his feet to the fire, smoking an old pipe that would have given his brother the horrors, looked with approving comished that its prescription was working well. Nor was he the only one who looked at her that way. Marion and Emma, his two daughters, worshipped their handsome Philadelphia cousin and they sat one on either side of her on the great log lying between the tents and the fire. Even Bob Junior condescended to give her approving glances. The whole camp was at her feet. Mrs. Maitland had been greatly taken by her young niece. Kirkby made no secret of his devotion, Arthur Bradshaw and Henry Phillips, each a "tenderfoot" of the extremist character, friends of business connections in the east, who were spending their vacation with Maitland, shared in the general devotion; to say nothing of George the cook and Pete, the packer and horse wrangler.

Phillips, who was an old acquaintance of Enid's, had tried his luck with her back east and had sense enough to accept as final his failure. Bradshaw was a solemn young man without that keen sense of humor which was characteristic of the west. The others were suitably dressed for adventure, for Bradshaw's idea of an appropriate costume was distinguished chiefly by long green felt puttees which swathed his huge calves and excited curious inquiry and ribald comment from the surprised denizens of each mountain hamlet through which they had passed, to all of which Bradshaw remained serenely oblivious. The young man, who does enter especially into this tale, was a vestryman of the church in his home in the suburbs of Philadelphia. His piety had been put to a severe strain in the mountains.

That day everybody had to work on the trail—everybody wanted to for that matter. The hardest labor consisted in the driving of the burros. Unfortunately there was no good and trained leader among them through an unavoidable mistake, and the campers had great difficulty in keeping the burros on the trail. To Arthur Bradshaw had been allotted the most obstinate, cross-grained and determined of the unruly band, and old Kirkby and George paid particular attention to instructing him in the gentle art of manipulating him over the rocky mountain trail.

"Wall," said Kirkby with his somewhat languid, drawing, nasal voice, "that there burro's like a ship w'ch I often seed 'em w'en I was a kid down east afore I come out to God's country. Nature has pervided 'em with a kind of a hellum. I remember if you wanted the boat to go to the right you shoved the hellum over to the left. Starboard an' port was the terms as I recollects 'em. It's jest the same with burros, you takes 'em by the tiller, that's by the tail, git a good tight twist on it an' if you want him to head to the right, slew his stern sheets around to the left, an' you got to be keeful you don't git no kick back w'ch if it lands on you is worse 'n the ree-coil of a mule."

Arthur faithfully followed directions, narrowly escaping the outraged brute's small but sharp pointed heels on occasion. His efforts not being productive of much success, finally in his despair he resorted to brute strength; he would pick the little animal up bodily, pack and all—he was a man of powerful physique—and swing him around until his head pointed in the right direction; then with a prayer that the burro would keep it there for a few rods anyway, he would set him down and start him all over again. The process of it repeated became monotonous after awhile. Arthur was a slow thinking man, deliberate in action; he stood it as long as he possibly could. Kirkby, who rode one better and led two others, and therefore was exempt from burro driving, observed him with great interest. He and Bradshaw had strayed way behind the rest of the party.

At last Arthur's resistance, patience and piety, strained to the breaking point, gave way suddenly. Primitive instincts rose to the surface and overwhelmed him like a flood. He deliberately sat down on a fallen tree by the side of a trail, the burro halting obediently, turned and faced him with hanging head, apparently conscious that he merited the disapprobation that was being heaped upon him, for from the desperate tenderfoot there burst forth so amazing, so fluent, so comprehensive a torrent of assorted profanity, that even the old past master in oburation was astonished and bewildered. Where did Bradshaw, mild and inoffensive, get it? His proficiency would have appalled his rector and amazed his fellow vestrymen. Not the Jackdaw of Rheims himself was so cursed as that little burro. Kirkby sat on his horse in fits of silent laughter until the tears ran down his cheek, the only outward and visible expression of his mirth.

Arthur only stopped when he had thoroughly emptied himself, possibly of an accumulation of years of repression.

"Wall," said Kirkby, "you sure do

NOSE STOPPED UP WITH CATARRH

A Common Sense Treatment For Colds and Catarrh, Gives Instant Relief.

No matter how miserable you are with catarrh or a cold in the head, nose stopped up, throat sore, eyes running, dull pain in the head, dry cough, fever, foul breath, Ely's Cream Balm will give you instant relief.

It gets right at the root of the trouble, cleanses, heals and strengthens the raw, sore membranes, stops the nasty discharge so that you are not constantly blowing the nose and spitting. In a few minutes after applied you can just feel it doing its work of clearing the head, the pain and soreness are relieved, the breathing becomes natural and the stuffed up feeling is gone. This cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm contains no mercury, cocaine or other harmful drugs. It is easy to apply, pleasant to use, and never fails to give relief, even in the worst cases.

Never neglect a cold, and don't suffer the miseries of catarrh nor disgust your friends with your hawking, spitting and foul breath. Get a 50-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and start the treatment at once. You will find that it will be the best investment you ever made.

overmatch any one I ever heard w'en it comes to cursin'; w'y, you could gimme cards an' spades an' beat me, an' I was thought to have some gift that-a-way in the old days."

"I didn't begin to exhaust myself," answered Bradshaw, shortly, "and what I did say didn't equal the situation. I'm going home."

"I wouldn't do that," urged the old man. "Here, you take the horses an' I'll tackle the burro."

"Gladly," said Arthur. "I would rather ride an elephant and drive a herd of them than waste another minute on this infernal little mule."

The story was too good to keep, and around the camp fire that night Kirkby drawled it forth. There was a freedom and easiness of intercourse in the camp, which was natural enough. Cook, teamster, driver, host, guest, men, women, children, and I had almost said burros, stood on the same level. They all ate and lived together. The higher up the mountain range you go, the deeper into the wilderness you plunge, the further away from the conventional you draw, the more homogeneous becomes society and the less obvious are the irrational and unscientific distinctions of the lowlands. The guinea stamp fades and the man and the woman are pure gold or base metal inherently and not by any artificial standard.

George, the cattle man, who cooked, and Pete, the horse wrangler, who assisted Kirkby in looking after the stock, enjoyed the episode uproariously, and would fain have had the exact language repeated to them, but here Robert Maitland demurred, much to Arthur's relief, for he was thoroughly humiliated by the whole performance. It was very pleasant lounging around the camp fire and one good story easily led to another.

"It was in these very mountains," said Robert Maitland, at last, when his turn came, "that there happened one of the strangest and most terrible adventures that I ever heard of. I have pretty much forgotten the lay of the land, but I think it wasn't very far from here that there is one of the most stupendous canons through the range; nobody ever goes there; I don't suppose anybody has ever been there since. It must have been at least five years ago that it all happened."

"It was four years an' nine months exactly, Bob," drawled old Kirkby, who well knew what was coming.

THE TAFT-TEDDY FIGHT WARMS UP

The Colonel Is Out With Another Statement.

TAFT FORCES FOLLOW SUIT

The Latter For the First Time Ring in the Names of George W. Perkins and the Steel Trust and International Harvester Company as Aiders and Abettors of Roosevelt Campaign.—Colonel Explains Letter.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 5.—A letter written by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to E. A. Van Valkenburgh editor of the Philadelphia North American, on June 27, 1911, which contained the statement that he had assured Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Meyer and others that he would not be a candidate in 1912 is explained by the colonel, who says it was perfectly true that he had said that he would not be a candidate in 1912, but that he had not asserted that he would not accept the nomination if it was offered to him. He made it clear that he saw nothing in his letter to Van Valkenburgh to conflict with his recent statement that he would accept the nomination if tendered to him.

"To all who were at that time writing me if I was a candidate, I answered that I was not," he said. "To all who then asked me if I would accept if nominated, I answered 'Yes.' If I knew them sufficiently well to be sure they would absolutely understand me, I answered that I would accept if nominated. Otherwise I simply told them I would not cross that bridge until I came to it.

"In most cases, if my correspondents were close personal friends, I told them that I counted upon them doing everything possible toward preventing any movement looking to my nomination. It was not until within the last three or four months that I was finally obliged to come to the conclusion that there was a real demand among the people as a whole for my nomination which did not come in any way from any friends of mine and was neither inspired or engineered by them. When I became convinced that this demand was real and was considerable, and when the governors of seven states (increased by this time to ten, I may mention incidentally) asked me if I would accept if nominated, I answered 'Yes.'

"I added an expression of my wish that wherever possible presidential preference primaries might be held so as to find out whether the Republican voters wished to have me nominated. If the people do not wish me to serve, most certainly I do not wish to serve. If they do desire me to undertake, in their interest, a great task, I shall certainly do so, and shall perform it with whatever courage and ability I possess.

"Whether there will be such an expression of the popular will I can't say, as where there are no presidential preference primaries it unfortunately seems too often to be the case that the efforts of the political leaders is not to give expression to the popular will, but to thwart it in every way possible.

"In June, 1911, and about that time, persistent efforts were made from Washington to convince the progressives that I was really supporting Mr. Taft. On one particular occasion the statement was made with great explicitness. I promptly denied that statement, and was assured on one hand that the statement was inspired from the White House, and was informed on the other that it had not originated there, but was made purely on the initiative of the Associated Press. The Associated Press people assured me that they were not responsible for the false statement.

"As will be seen by reference to the Van Valkenburgh letter, Mr. Noyes (of the Associated Press) was quoted as having got information from independent sources. I hardly need point out that I cannot know who gave out this letter, but certainly not Mr. Van Valkenburgh, as I know him to be an honorable man."

The letter was called forth by an Associated Press dispatch which represented Mr. Roosevelt as having pledged himself to Taft. Colonel Roosevelt in the Van Valkenburgh letter characterizes this published report as a "deliberate invention."

Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, when questioned in regard to the Roosevelt letter, declined to comment on it.

The publication of the Roosevelt letter is only one of several developments in the last day or two that indicates that the campaign of Mr. Taft and his predecessor and political sponsor is going to be extremely bitter. The Taft campaign bureau gave out a statement last night for the first time in which they brought in the names of George W. Perkins, the steel trust and the International Harvester company in connection with activity of the Roosevelt boomers. Perkins is mentioned as a contributor to the Roosevelt fund.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used.

Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish once—fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

In your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove, get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other satisfied women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

GETTING OUT

Americans Flee From Mexico in Fear of Their Lives.

Mexico City, March 5.—Ten Pullman sleepers, filled with Americans, left here last night for the American border with citizens of that country getting out of Mexico. It is said that there were 200 persons in the party all told. Four hundred had left earlier in the day. The belief here is that all the Americans in the republic are preparing for flight. It is believed that the major portion of those here will be out within the next fortnight.

Reports have reached here of another battle near San Pedro, in which seventy rebels and thirty of the rurales were killed. At Torreón it is said that a state of complete anarchy prevails. The town is surrounded and has been cut off from the outside world for weeks. Many persons are on the verge of starvation and hundreds of the hungry are begging in the streets. A recent sortie of the garrison was repulsed and the federals were driven back into the town, with a loss of fifteen dead.

While the per capita consumption of tea in the United States is about stationary, that of coffee is steadily increasing.

WHITE SLAVERS TO BE PUNISHED

Nation-Wide Crusade Against Iniquitous Traffic

MEN OF MEANS BEHIND MOVE

Under the Direction of the American Vigilance Association, Headed by David Starr Jordan, a General Onslaught Will Be Made Upon the nefarious Crew Whose Traffic in White Slaves Has Become a World Stench.

Washington, March 5.—Under the direction of David Starr Jordan of the American Vigilance association, lately organized as the working force of this new movement, some of the biggest enterprises of the country, working in conjunction with the department of justice, are beginning a gigantic campaign against white slavery in the United States. Funds for the prosecution of the campaign have been pouring in from all over the country. Associated with the movement are some of the wealthiest men in this country, whose names are at present withheld. It is understood that they have pledged themselves to furnish the money for the support of the organization.

The work of the American Vigilance association will be conducted through a number of departments. Headquarters are already in readiness in New York and Chicago, and offices will soon be opened in San Francisco. The plan of operation of the association is simple but complete. Attached to each headquarters will be lawyers, detectives and educators. Whenever a city or town wants to start a crusade against the white slave traffic the association will supply it with detectives, who will investigate conditions, and lawyers who will prepare the evidence. The evidence will then be turned over to the state or federal authorities and the influence of the association will be exerted to bring about effective prosecution.

Acting under this arrangement the association will begin investigations into the white slave traffic in five different cities within the next few days.

READY TO SERVE

The Colonel Declines to Sidestep Duty as a County Juror.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 5.—"All call jurors please answer to your names and save your fines," chanted the clerk of the Nassau court, adding almost in the same breath, as he began the roll: "Theodore Roosevelt." Colonel Roosevelt answered "Here" and saved his fine. The colonel studied his court calendar closely and appeared to take a keen interest in all that was going on. He said later that it was to be his first experience as a juror.

When he colonel arrived at the Nassau county courthouse at Mineola, Justice Putnam called him into his chambers and told the colonel he would be glad to excuse him if he cared to plead "public business." But the colonel would do nothing of the kind. He explained that he would like to get off today to keep an appointment in New York, but that otherwise he was ready to do his duty.

To a reporter who expressed surprise that Colonel Roosevelt had not been excused from serving, the colonel replied: "I'm not asking any favors. I'll serve if they wish."

Then he took his seat within the rail with the other talesmen, heard the grand jury sworn in and listened to the calling of the calendar before it came his turn to take part. When the list of call jurors was read, the colonel's name was first on the list. As he stepped before the bench Justice Putnam said:

"I understand it would be more agreeable to you, colonel, to appear later in the week."

"It would be more convenient, your honor," replied the colonel, and the court told him to be on hand on Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

Colonel Roosevelt said he had no idea how long he would be in court. He would be in his place on Wednesday, ready to serve as long as he was needed. He gets $3 a day and a mileage allowance while he is serving.

A LAIN IN DITCH

"Eighteen Hour" Limited Has Some More Hard Luck.

Upper Sandusky, O., March 5.—The Pennsylvania railroad's eighteen-hour flyer, bound from New York for Chicago, was wrecked at Glennville, O. None of the passengers or crew was killed, but thirty-five of the former were severely bruised by being tossed about in the berths.

One of the double trucks on the first engine broke and the locomotive was thrown from the rails. The engineer of the second locomotive stuck to his post and reduced the train's speed considerably before his engine and the two following cars left the track.

Ended Hopeless Struggle.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 5.—Despondent over his own ill health and because his wife is a helpless invalid from paralysis, Israel Luther, aged sixty-eight, farmer and fruit grower, committed suicide.

IS POSTAL BANK FUND TAXABLE?

Assessors Are Already Meeting With That Perplexing Question Over the County.

IS NO LEGAL OPINION ON IT

People Continue to Deny Ownership of "Dawg" When Assessor Shows Up.

Although the assessors throughout Rush county have been working but a few days, they have already run up against some perplexing questions. On several occasions the men have come across persons who question their authority to schedule postal savings deposits. This item, however, is included in schedule blanks furnished the assessors last Friday. The same question has been raised elsewhere and the matter has been brought to the attention of the attorney general. He has not yet rendered his opinion.

There are 128 questions to be answered by all persons assessed, but it is probable that each assessor asks no less than 100 other questions before he succeeds in completing the schedule of each person assessed.

On the blanks provided by the State board of tax commissioners and to the right of the questions are three columns of figures. The first is for the valuation placed by the party assessed. The second is for the valuation fixed by the township assessor and the third is for the valuation placed by the county assessor.

From over the county come reports to the effect that the work of the various assessors is moving along rapidly and in most cases smoothly. The work must be completed by May 15. Many assessors come to Rushville on Saturday with the expectation of finding many taxpayers of their district.

Already several instances have been encountered in which men have sought to avoid the payment of a poll tax, but so far without success. This is one of the features of the work of the assessor which it is hoped to build up this year and it is believed that when they have completed their task that there will be many more polls scheduled than last year.

There are two extra questions at the bottom of each schedule that many persons shy at and which give the assessors considerable trouble. They are:

"Does any member of your family or any one living with you own any property subject to taxation?"

"How many male dogs are harbored by you: how many female dogs?"

There are many persons who tell the assessor that they are not the owner of a dog and when their attention is called to the fact that there is a dog on the place, they will come back with:

"It don't belong to me. It's a stray and I don't know where it came from," and there are numerous similar excuses to avoid having the animal scheduled, despite the fact that it may have been in the possession of the person being assessed for anywhere from a few weeks to a year.

BOARD'S ACTION NOT UNDERSTOOD

Shelbyville is Entitled to First Place in Sixth District Basket Ball League.

SHELBYVILLE MAKES A KICK

Much comment is being made on the streets of the city and among the students of the local high school concerning the lemon that was handed them Saturday night when the board of control of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, in their meeting in Indianapolis, gave the title, Sixth district champions, to the Richmond high school team, says the Shelbyville News.

The members of the local team and their coach, Prof. Dorsey Jones, feel that a big mistake has been made and in all probability the board will be asked to reconsider their decision in the matter.

Shelbyville has the highest percentage of any team in the league. They played six games and won five, being defeated by Richmond in the game in that city. Richmond, who were given the championship played seven games and suffered two defeats one in this city and one at the hands of the Newcastle team on their home floor.
